PARK BARRACKS HOUSE OF REFUGE. - A new order of things is being instituted at these barracks. Capt. M. A. Cochran, 16th U. S. Infantry, essumed command a few days ago, with L'eut. McRoberts, Marks, and Adams, to each of whom are assigned an equal number of men, for whose cleanliness and good order they are individually responsible. The ticks and blankets are taken out of doors daily to be aired, and the rooms are thoroughly renovated. A regular guard of twenty-five men, in charge of the officer of the day and officer of the guard, surround the barracks, and no one is allowed to pass the line without a permit, except commissioned officers, from proper authority. There is regular guard mounting at 8 o'clock, A. M., and undress parade at 5 But let me see:—is this our focusan's face? Boston time is of course considerably faster than that of all the leading cities of the United States. The figures given below indicate how many minutes slower the time is in the cities named than it is in Boston: New York, 12 minutes; Philadelphia, 16; Baltimore, 22; Washington, 24; Richmond, 26; Charleston, 35; New Orleans, 76; Buffalo, 30; Cleveland, 42; Detroit, 48; Cincinnati, 53; Indianapolis, 57; Louisville, 57; Chicago, 65; Caire, 70; St. Louis, 76; St. Paul, 88; San Erancisco, 207 minutes. This difference of time is quite important in these days when the telegraph is so generally used.

RELIC MANUFACTURING .- The number of civilians with the army of the Potomac, hunting relics, is so large, and the prices paid so liberal. that the soldiers are said to be doing a good business in selling articles which they get up by a very simple process. A letter from a "Pennsylvania Reserve," stationed near Manassas, says: "Old worn out five dollar pistols, preserved in vinegar, sell readily at from $15 to $20. Knives which originally cost from $1 to $2 command from $5 to $10. Thus you see how easily the innocent public is gulled by the wicked sons of

CAPT. W. H. HARRIS—BOUQUETS AND BLOOD-HOUNDS—We stated in yesterday's issue that Capt. Brown, of Louisians, brother in-law of Gov. Isham G. Harris, First Tennessee regiment of Capt. W. H. Harris, First Tennessee regiment of cavalry, was captured, and is now a prisoner. We understand that he is a great favorite with many of the disloyal ladies of Nashville, and that they are greatly incensed because they are not permitted to lionize this gallant cavalier, and strew his pathway with rose; that they are outraged that then Damont does not give him the freedom of the Gen. Dumout does not give him the freedom of the city, to visit his friends unrestrained, taking his word that he will return when required. Wolford decided at once to advance upon them, and offer battle whatever might be their force; and, if overpowered, to fall back upon the infantry and Hewett's second advance to Msj Givens, of the 7th Pennsylvania, with some sixty of that gallant regiment. Our whole force, was about six hundred men. We ten miles toward Nashville, when we heard the whistle of the cars and a party of our men halted them; and got more definite information. We passed up to the place where Morgan had been fire to the cotton stored near the depot, had forn up the track on the railroad, and cut down the elegraph wire, cutting off all communication between Nashville and Murfreesboro. He had permitted the cars to pass on to the place where the bars were torn off, and then tore up the track behind, when our advance came in sight and the conductor ordered the rails to be replaced in fron!; which was done in a few minutes, and the cors passed on and met us. There were over a buadred soldiers on the cars, but they had only their side arms and all would have fallen a prey to Morgan had not our advance frightened him away Having missed his prize, he began a hasty retreat, by a circuitous route, toward Lebanon. We pursued him until nearly night, but having positive orders to return to Murfreesboro to prevent a capture of that place, we had started and got within three miles when me met Gen. Dumont Kentucky cavalry. Our force now numbered staff, nearly 1,200 men, but tired and hungry, as neither men nor horses had eaten anything since morning and had gone over thirty miles since ten o'clock. Gen. Dumont how ver ordered us to march at once for Lebanon, distant 27 miles, and all obeyed the command with alacrity. Lieut. Adams and Capt. Merrison, of Wolford's regiment, with about seventy men, took the advance, then came the Pennsylvania regiment, Gol. Wyncoop commanding, then Col. GUERILLA WARFARE. - We are glad to see that our loyal contemporaries are taking up the subject of guerilla warfare and treating it in the right spirit. Our neighbors of the Democrat have some strong and just and in all respects admirable remarks upon it in their paper of yesterday. The Confederate Congress, it appears, on the eve of its adjournment, enacted a law intended to legalize the operations of guerilla bands, evidently foreseeing that all hope on the part of the rebels of being able to continue a regular system of warfare would very soon be at an end, and hoping to annoy the U. S. Government into a final acknowledgment of rebel independence. But guerilla warfare is illegitimate, it is piratical, by the common consent of the civilized nations of the world, and no one power or pretended power can by legislation make it otherwise. As long as the rebels can keep fully and brilliantly Gen. McClellan has fulgreat armies in the field with any rational ment, and in their regular military uniform, must be recognized as belligerents whilst attempting to break up our means of military troops are in the habit of doing in war; but, if they go beyond this, they must if possible be punished as marauders, no matter under what real or assumed authority they may act. Not having read the law of the rebel Congress, we do not know in what manner, or under what limitations, or whether under any limitations at all, it has undertaken to legalize guerilla warfare, but most certainly the warfare bearing that name, wherever carried on, has been a terrific curse to the people, and Wellington's recorded testimony is, that it has ever been most destructive to the people of the strictions may be placed upon it, a grievous mankind is upon it and can never be removed from it. In every instance on record, murder, they will be so in the case of our rebel guerillas if such a scourge upon society shall be version or defeat of any government against which it is waged, but it can work misery and the less hollow the virtue they would make of woe while it lasts, and of course it should be necessity. There is manifestly a wonderful quelled as soon as possible, and, if necessary, deal of method in their madness. by the most stringent means.

In the Journal of yesterday we copied from e, and it was stated in our local co umns, on the authority of a gentleman who South, that Morgan, during his stay in Glascertainly he seized horses there and at Glasgow, and has done so at various points in Tennessee, see is pursuing the right course in regard to such acts. may soon be heard of again within our State limits. Certainly Morgan and his followers have threatened and sworn a hundred times to seize the pulse of a great nation. some of the most prominent citizens of Kentucky for his own purposes, whatever these may be, and there is no reason to doubt that his exploits in carrying off men's horses, &c., and in seizing the money of individuals on its passage from place to place by express, will be repeated if he has the power to repeat them, and if he be not deterred by apprehensions of the consequences to his own friends. Let the fact be promulgated by the proper authority, that, for every private Union citizen seized in Kentucky, half a dozen or more of the most influential rebel citizens of the neighborhood will be held as hostages to be dealt with as the circumstances of individual cases may seem to require, and that, for all private Union property taken, of whatever description, ample indemnity will be secured from rebel sympation.

But the citizens of Memphis say they will burn their town. Well, they must do as they please about that. If they prefer to the flag itary authority in this city openly declares that General McClellan's demonstrations before York-town, which he has professionally visited and inspected, are those of a master in military stratehave their way. And the fame of Memphis will live with that of "the cities of the Plain."

OUR FORTS .- There remain now in the hands of the enemy only two forts of the least importance-Fort Morgan, at the entrance to Mobile, and Fort Sumpter at Charleston harbor. There is an insignificant fort at Wilmington, and another at Galveston, it is true; but they are of no account, and will, of course ultimately fall, and then our Government will have regained all the coast defences. The Monitor, the Galena, the Naugatuck, the Dacotah, can, if so instructed, enforce

We recaived late last night from our species correspondent at Nashville a full report of the Union Convention held in that city on Monday We give in another solumn the resolutions adop ed by the Conventich, and will publish the ful report of the proceedings to-morrow. The Convention passed off harmoniously and with great enthusias m.

THE NEW PAPER - We publish in our advertising co'umns this morning the proposition of Messrs. W. G. Overton & Co. to publish a daily and weekly newspaper in this city, to be entitled the Express. The first number will be issued on Monday next. It is the purpose of the gentlemen composing the firm to devote the Express to local domestic and foreign news, and those who are aware of Mr. Overton's talent and experience will not question his ability to succeed.

THE THEATRE -We can imagine nothing more impressive of delicate sentiment, or more suggestive of one's idea of the beautiful, or more provocative of the joy of mirth, than the nightly representations of these talented ar tistes, the Sisters Webb. To see most players is symply to gratify a curious feeling, but, with the Webb Sisters, such an attempt proves fatal; for a feeling of curiosi y runs at once into admi ration, and that admiration ripens into a worship of two gentle beings who so naturally control us without themselves indulging a thought of the conquest. Flashes of their great genius may be seen this evening through the medium of three favorite plays-the comic drama of "Milly, the Maid with the Milking Pail," the charming interlude of "Nature and Philosophy," and the protean farce of "The Actress of all Work.

MASONIC TEMPLE -Geo. Christy's celebrated Minstrels give their last entertainment in this city this evening. This band is composed of the best artistes in the profession, and have given the greatest satisfaction in every city they have visited. The bill for this evening comprises many well-known gems from the various operas, thickly intespersed with the drolleries of Geo. Christy Arlington, and Japanese Tommy, who alone worth the price of admission, being the smalles and drollest dwarf living. This is positively the last night, as they are advertised to play in Lex ington on Thursday evening.

FATAL SHOOTING .- A case of shooting occurred at the saloon of Charles Wirth, on Green street, between Clay and Shelby, about five o'clock las evening, in which John Buntz, a p ivate in the Fifteenth Indiana Regiment, was killed at the hands of Jas. Connell. A quarrel had arisen between the two men in reference to a female, as a result of which Connell fired twice upon Buntz with his revolver, the second shot taking effect in his right side and causing his death almost in stantaneously. Connell is a hoseman in the Ken tucky Fire Company, and is a young man withou family. Officer Gilmore took him in custody.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE NEW PRESBY TERIAN CHURCH .- This body will convene in Cincinnati to-morrow (Thursday), the 15th inst. The sittings of the Convention will take place at Roy. Dr. Thompson's Church, Fourth street, be tween Vine and Race. Rev. Dr. Condit. of Auburn, N. Y., will deliver the opening sermon We have effected an arrangement whereby we will receive the proceedings of this body in advance of the mails.

CASE CONTINUED .- The case of Jas. H. Montgomery, who is charged with the murder of G. D. Gibbs, on the 30th of January last, was called in the Jefferson Circuit Court yesterday, and continued until the next term of the Court upon the affidavit of the accused. The affidavit sets forth that the defense can prove by George S. Stevens, who is absent, that the deceased threatened to kill the accused, and was in a menacing attitude when the killing was done.

CLOSE OF THE TERM -The criminal term of the Jefferson Circuit Court closed yesterday, fourteen persons having been convicted upon felony charges. Of the number twelve were sentenced to the penitentiary for various periods of servitude, while new trials were granted in two instances. The details may be found in the court proceedings elsewhere.

CORD ON THE LEGAL AND EQUITABLE RIGHTS OF MARRIED WOMEN. - Our readers will find sewhere in the Journal of to-day an advertisement setting forth the scope of this work, together with cordial tributes to its merits from Chief Justice Taney, Justice Grier, and the Hon. J. S.

States. We invite attention to this advertise-

From the hasty examination we have given the treatise of Mr. Cord, we concur fully in the opinion of the work expressed by the eminent jurists above-mentioned, if, indeed, we on such a subject may be allowed without presumption to superadd our opinion to theirs. The work supplies a desideratum in the profession, and, so far as we are able to judge, supplies it completely The work is alike admirable in research and in arrangement, -in fullness and accuracy of matter and in clearness of manner. We predict for it a prompt and brilliant success. The author, we should add, is a citizen of Kentucky, residing at Flemingsburg, in the county of Fleming.

The following resolutions were adopted nanimously by the Union Convention at Nash-WHEREAS, It is manifest to the most unreflect-ng, that whilst the State of Tennessee, was an

ing, that whilst the State of Tennessee, was an integral part of the Government of the United States, its citizens were in the enjoyment of the full protection of life, liberty and property, under the constitution of the United States, and the laws passed in accordance therewith, and all of their material and political interests were watchfully, and carefully, and carefully and carefully. watchfully and carefully guarded by laws, i troduced by Southern men-Representatives our selection-identified thoroughly with all t our selection—identified thoroughly with all the interests of our people—which laws were decided to be Constitutional by the Supreme Court of the United States—the constitutional tribupal to decide all such questions; and whereas, because of the election constitutionally of a President of the United States—who received no support in the State of Tennessee—and the effort of that President to maintain the integrity of the Union, and enforce the laws against armed resistance—our people in common with armed resistance—our people, in common with the people of other States, were precipitated into a revolution—resorting to the sibitrament of arms for the settlement of our political differences, insead of the peaceable remedies provided by the constitution; and wherear, it is evident that the authority of the Federal Government is now exrted over this part of Tennessee, and will be in a short time extended over the entire State—and it is the duty of every citizen so to act as to free R-solved by a portion of the people of Tennessee in Convention assembled; 1. That the social, political, and material interests of the people of Tennesses, and the sefety and welfare of our friends and relatives now in the Confederate army, imperiusly demand the return of the State of Tennesses in the Ederal Union 2 That all good citizens who concur with us it this opinion are earnestly invited to co-operate in the accomplishment of this object, so vital to our future peace and happiness.

3 That the chairman of this meeting appoint a committee of three to take into consideration the condition of the prisoners of war from Tennessee, now held in custody by the Government, and endeavor to obtain their release and return and endeavor to obtain their release and return to their allegiance upon terms alike compatible with the interests of the Government and the honor of the soldier.

4. That the forbearance, moderation, and gen-tlemanly deportment of the officers and soldiers of the Federal army, since their occupation of Tennessee, challenge our highest admiration.

5. That the meeting most cordially approve of the address made to the people of Tennessee by his Excellency Governor Andrew Johnson, dated March 18, 1862, and the policy of his administra-tion since that time.

THE SKIRMISH AT LABANON. To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

NASHVILLE, TENN., May 11. GENTLEMEN: Since the war began there has not been a more brilliant and successful battle han the one which occurred on the 6th inst., at Lebanon. Col. Morgan was and had been for a great while a perfect terror to the Union peo-ole of this State—their lives nor their property vere safe while within his reach, and he was re resented as having a set of the most desperat lare-devil men to be found in the Southern Co eracy—a regiment that could not be whipped. He left Corinth with a large force to make his way to Kentucky, and commit his depredations there and return to East Tennessee before any Union troops could reach him. He captured and burned the train near Pulaski, as you have already learned, and gotten as far as Lebanon, where he was overtaken by General Dumont, with a force of six or seven hundred cavalry, detached from Col. Wolford's First, and Col. G Clay Smith's Fortyfourth Kentucky, and Col. Wynkoop's Seventh Pennsylvania Regiment. A more desparate or acy—a regiment that could not be whipped. He or obstinate fight never occurred between two such forces. The enemy occupying the town, taking refuge in the houses, and aided by the citizans, kept up and poured a most murderous fire on the Union troops, until by superior courage, daring and skill Morgan and his men were forced to suitable for the course of the course o render or run.

There were several incidents I have heard con cted with this fight worthy of notice. Col. G nected with this fight worthy of notice. Col. G. Clay Smith and his gallant regiment deserve the honor and gratitude of the people of the country, for 'twas he who began the trail on Friday the first of May, and kept it up, through hill and valley, over croek and river, determining if Morgan could be caught to bring him in. For two or thre nights and days Col. Smith and his men did without food or sleep, but were in the saddle all the time, and, without a murmur, they followed on until they found the enemy at Lebafollowed on until they found the enemy at Leba-non. When the fight began Col. Smith rode along the line and said to his men, "Be cool. Be steady. We have found him at last. Take good aim. Stand by me, and we can perfectly demol-ish him. His men did stand by him, and wher-ever the thickest and bardest of the fight was,

He and his command bore the brunt of the batle in the western part of the town, and when an Dumont discovered that Col. Morgan had allied three or four hundred of his men to make tallied three or four hundred of his men to make their escape through the northern portion of the town, he sent for Col. Smith to occupy that part of the town and engage the enemy if he came that way. The Colonel had not more than received the order before he was off at the speed of his horses, led his men to line of battle just in time to meet Morgan face to face, exchanged shots with him and charge face, exchanged shots with him and charg-ed. A more gallant charge was never made by man, with his sword waving high above his head, and twenty yards in front of his men, his head, and twenty yards in front of his men, he yelled out, above muskets and cirbines, charge, come on my brave boys, the victory is ours. The forces met, but the daring intrepidity and coolness of Kentucky's gallant Colonel, and the firmness with which his men stood by him, the enemy gave way and skeddadled in every direction. The pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and another than the pursuit was prompt and raid and the pursuit was prompt and raid and the pursuit was prompt and pursuit and the pursuit was prompt and pursuit was prompt was pro tion. The pursuit was prompt and rapid and suc-cessful. After the retreat became so complete, some of Col. Smith's men wanted to keep up the fire, but he cried out, "no, boys, don't kill running and frightened men—capture them." Some of his men told me afterwards that they believed he would lead them right into hell, and they would follow. Gen Dumont was very leavish in his follow. Gen. Dumont was very lavish in his praises of Col. Smith, and taking him by the hand after the fight, said, "Colonel, I am under ery great obligations to you and your me ave borne much, worked hard, and fought gal-

As soon as the Colonel returned to town, though wounded and suffering a great deal, he visited his wounded, shook them by the hand, and revived heir drooping spirits and encouraged them obsored from the spirits and encouraged them to be of good cheer. He then had his dead unted up, washed and laid out decently; referred coffins to be made for them, and he other dead. Praises of his whole conduct was n the mouths of every one, citizens and all; he ras called on for a speech, and after returning his hanks and making a few remarks three he cheers were given for the gallant colonel of the Fourth Kentucky.

While I thus speak of Col. Smith and his regiment, I do not want to disparage the conduct and gallantry of Colonels Woolford and Wynkoop. They did their duty, and led their men where they were needed. Colonel Woolford was badly wounded, but will recover. In Colonel Woolford's regiment was a young man who met a brother in Morgan's regiment. They exchanged shots, recovering each the met a brother in Morgan's regiment. exchanged shots, recognized each other, and de-parted, both doubtless happy they had missed their aim. They were both Kentuckians. Col. Wolford's Chaplain was taken prisoner early in the engagement, and quite a good anec-dote' is told with regard to him. When he dote-13 told with regard to him. When he discovered that the men he was with were strangers, he asked permission to go to his regiment. A man standing by him said, "You are a prisoner." "Well, but," says the Chaplain, "I am nothing but a Chaplain in Col. Welford's cavalry, and I must go to my own men and see the wounded." The fellow replied, "The hell you are Wolford's mild." haplain. Well, we are glad to have you. Don't rou suppose Morgan's thieves want prayers as yell as Woolford's? Of course they do So como well as Woolford's? Of course they do So come along." The poor fellow had to follow; but he succeeded in getting away.

The Union people of Lebanon were overjoyed at the success of the Federals. Many of the best citizens were compelled to take to the woods upon Morgan's approach. After the fight they came back, full of happiness, while those who had been jocund the day before were made to weep.

It would be injustice to close this latter without saying a word in favor of General Dumont. He is a man of great coolness, gallantry, and energy, and from his course did much to reconcile the people of Wilson county. He is a good man, and is discharging his duty well in this place.

By giving the above a place in your paper, you will confer a favor on a citizen of TENNESSEE.

Captain N. H. McLain. Assistant Adjutant General Department of the Mississippi: eral Department of the Mississippi:

SIR: The rear divisions of the army under my command, which had been delayed a considerable time in rebuilding the Duck river bridge, left Columbia on the 21st inst. I left on the evening of that day, and arrived at Savannah on the evening of the 5th. General Nelson, with his division, which formed the advance, arrived the same day. The other divisions marched with intervals of about six miles.

On the morning of the 6th firing of musketry and cannon was heard in the direction of this place. Apprehending that a serious engagement had commenced, I went to Gen. Grant's headnariers to get information as to the means of reaching the battle field with the division that had arrived. At the same time orders were des-reaching the battle field with the division that had arrived. At the same time orders were despatched to the divisions in the rear to leave their trains and push forward by firced matches. I learned that Gen Grant had just started, leaving orders for Gen Nelson to march to the river opposite Pittsburg Landing, to be ferried across. An examination of the roads up the river discovered it to be impracticable for artill ry, and General Nelson was directed to leave his to be carried forward by steamers.

The impression existed at Savannah that the firing was only an affair of outposts, the same thing having occurred for two or three previous days; but as it continued, I determined to go to the scene of action, and accordingly started with my chief of staff, Col Fry, on a steamer which I ordered to get under steam. As we proceeded up the river, groups of soldiers were seen upon the west bank, and it soon became evident that they were stragglers from the engaged army. The groups increased in size and frequency, until, a we approached the landing, they amounted to whole c mpanies, and almost regiments; and at the landing the banks of the river swarmed with a confused mass of men, of various regiments. The number could not have been less than 4,000 or 5,000, and late in the day it became much greater. Finding Gen. Grant at the landing, I requested him to send steamers to Savannah to bring up Gen. Crittenden's division, which had arrived during the morning, and then went ashore with him. The throng of disorganized and demoralized troops increased continually, by fresh fugit vess from the battle, which steadily drew nearer the landing; and with them were intermingled great numbers of teams, all striving to get as near as possible to the river. With few exceptions, all efforts to form the troops and move them forward to the fight utterly failed. In the meantine, the enemy had made such progress against our troops that his artitlery and muskery began to play into the vital spot of the beak at the very landing. General Nelson arrived with Colonel Ammon's brigade at this oppor une moment. It was immediately posted to meet the attack at that point, and with a battery ward by steamers.

The impression existed at Savannah that the rived with Colonel Ammon's brigade at this opport one moment. It was immediately posted to meet the attack at that points and with a battery of artillery, which happened to be on the ground, and was brought into action, opened fire on the enemy and requised him. The action of the gunboats also contributed very much to that result. The attack at that point was not renewed Night having come on, the firing coased on both a des. In the meantime, the remainder of Gan. Nel-on's division crossed, and Gen. Crittendon's arrived from Sayannah by steamers. After ex-twelve mi es below its mouth, and separates into three or four principal branches, which enter the table lar d from the south, at a distance of about a mile apart. Generally the face of the country is covered with words, through which troops can pass without great difficulty, though occasionally the undergrowth is dense. Small farms of cultivated fields of from twenty to eighty acres occur here and there; but, as a general thing, the country is a forest. My entire ignorance of the various roads, and the character of the country at the time, rendered it impossible to anticipate the probable dispositions of the enemy, and the woods were always sufficient to secure his preparatory operations from observation. Scon after 5 o'clock, on the morning of the 7-h, Gen. Nelson's and Gen. Crittenden's divisione, the only ones yet arrived on the ground, moved promptly forward to meet the enemy. Nel on's division, marching in line of battle, scon came upon his picke s, drove them in, and about 6 o'clock received the fire of his artillery. The division was here halted and Mendehall's battery brought into action to reply, while C ittenden's division. Bartlatt's battery was posted in the centre of Crittenden's division in a commanding position, cppsite which the enemy was discovered to be in force. By this in a commanding position, opposite which the enemy was discovered to be in force. By this time, McCook's division arrived on the ground and was immediately formed on the right of General Crittenden's Skirmishers were then thrown to the front and a strong body of them were posted to guard our left flank, which, though somewhat protected by rough ground, it was sup-cosed the enemy might attempt to turn, and in act did, but was repulsed with great loss. Each brigade (u nished its own reserve, and in addi-tion, B yle's brigade, from Crittenden's division, though it formed at fir t in the line, was kept though it formed at fir t in the line, was kept somewhat back when the line advanced, to be used as occasion might require. I found upon the ground parts of about two regiments, perhaps 1000 men, and subsequently a similar fragment came up of ten Grant's force. The first I directed to act with Gen. McCooks attack, and the second was similarly employed on the left. I sent other straggling troops of Gen. Grant's force immediately on Gen. McCook's right, as some fiving had already commenced there. I had no direct knowledge of the disposition of the remainder of Gen. Grant's force, nor is it my province to speak of that came under my direction in the way I have stated, for they rendered willing and efficient serstated, for they rendered willing and efficient service during the day.

The force under my command occupied a line of about a mile and a half. In front of Nelson's division was an open field, partially screened towards his right by a skirt of woods, which extended through the enemy's line, with a thick undergrowth in front of the left brigade of Critterden's division; then an open field in front of Crittenden's right and McCook's left, and in front of McCook's right woods again with a dense un

The following day, in pursuance of the directions of Gen. Grant, Gen. Wood was sent forward with two of his brigades, which arrived the previous evening, and a battery of artillery, to discern the position of the enemy, and press him if he should be found in retreat. Gen. Sherman, with about the same force from Gen. Grant's army, was on the same service, and had a spirited skirmish with the enemy's cavalry, driving it buck. The rear force was found to have retrasted by road Lick Creek, and our troops returned at night.

There were no idlers in the battle of the 7th.

Every portion of the army did its work. The batteries of Capts Terrell and Mendenhall were splendidly handled and served; that of Captain Bartlett was served with great spirit and gallantry, though with less decisive results.

I specially commend to the favor of the Government, for their distinguished gallantry and good conduct, Brig. Gen. A. McD. McDok, commanding 21 division; Brig. Gen. Wm. Nelson, commanding 4th division; Brig. Gen. T. L. Criticaden, commanding 5th division; Brig. Gen. L. H. Rousseau, commanding 1th brigade; Brig. Gen. J. T. Boyle, commanding 1th brigade; Col. J. Ammon, 24 th Ohio, commanding 10th brigade; Col. W. S. Smith, 13th Ohio, commanding 14th brigade; Col. E. N. Kirk, 34th Illinois, commanding 5th brigade; Col. W. H. GEN. NELSON'S REPORT. at 1:30 P. M on Sunday, the 6 h of April, and marched by land to the point opposite Pittsburg Landing. The auxiety of the men to take part in the battle, which was going on on the left bank of the river, enabled me to achieve the distance, notwithstanding the dreadful condition of the road over a lately overflowed bottom, in four hours. At five o'clock the head of my column marched up the bank of Pittsburg Landing, and took up its position in the road under the fire of the rebel artillery, so close that they approached the landing. I found a semi circle of artillery unsupported by infantry, who e fire was the only check to the andacious approach of the enemy. The Sixth Obio and Thirty six h Indiana had hardly deployed when the left of our artillery was completely turned by the enemy, and the gunners field from their p cost. The gallantry of the Thirty-six h Indiana, supported by the Sixth Ohio, under the able corduct of Col. Ammon, commanding the Teoth Brigade, drove back the enemy, and restored the line of battle. This was at 6 30 P. M, and soon after the enemy withdrew, owing Lannyase to the darkness.

his battery, silence followed on the part of the enemy. Captains Terrell and Mendenhall, and chiled to the thanks of the 4th division. The 19th Ohio, Col. Beatty, attached to Crittenden's division. Ohio, Col. Beatty, attached to Crittenden's division, also came to my support. This regiment was ably handled, and re dered efficient service.

At 1 P. M., by direction of General Buell, I ordered the division to move with arms trailed, at "double quick," on the rising ground in front, held by the enemy, which the enemy, with much promptness, abandoned to our use. The firing now diminished much along the front of the division, but was at 2 P. M. renewed on my right, on Crittenden's and McCook's divisions, with great fury. The Fourth division had no more trouble during the action, the attacks on it being feeble and easily repulsed. They ceased entirely at 4 P. M.

I desire to call the attention of the General

I desire to call the attention of the General I desire to call the attention of the General commanding the army of the Ohio to the distinguished conduct of Col. Jacob Ammon, of the 26th Ohio, commanding the 10th brigade. The cool, wary, and vigorous method in which he fought his brigade, protecting all the while the left flink of the army, gave me a profitable lesson in the science of battles. To Col. Hazen, commanding the 19th brigade, I beg also to invite the General's attention. The gallantry with which he led his trought of the attack was most conspicatous, and he handled them ably.

During the long and bloody action, the forfitude of the 4th division was sorely tried, pressed, as it was, by such superior numbers, but it maintailed

In the meantime the division of General Mc-Cook, on the right, which was engaged somewhat later in the mroing than the divisions on the left, had made steady progress until it drove the enemy's left from the hotly contested field. The action was commenced in this division by General Rousseau's trigade, which drove the enemy in front of it from his first position and captured a battery. The line of attack of this division caused a considerable widening of the space between it and Crittenden's right. It was also outflanked on its right by the line of the enemy, who made repeated strong attacks on its flanks, but was always gallantly repulsed. The enemy made his last direct stand in front of this division in the woods beyond Sherman's camp.

Two brigades of Gen. Wood's division arrived just at the close of the battle, but only one of them, Col. Wagner's, in time to participate actively in the pursuit, which it continued for about a mile, and until halted by my order. Its skirmishers became engaged for a few minutes with skirmishers among the enemy's rear guard, which made a momentary stand. It was also fired upon by the enemy's battery on its right flink, but without effect. It was well conducted by its commander, and showed great steadiness.

The pursuit was continued no further that day. I was without cavairy, and the different corps had become a good deal scatered in a pursuit over a country which screened the movements of the enemy, and the roads of which I knew practically nothing. In the beginning of the pursuit, thinking it probable that the enemy had retired, principally by the Hamburg road, I had ordered Nelson's division to follow as far as Lick Creek, on that road, from which I afterwards learned the direct Corinch road was separated by a difficult ravine, which empties into Lick Creek. I therefore occupied myself with examining the ground, and getting the different divisions into position, which was not effected until some time after dark.

yond Lick Creek, and our troops returned at enemy and rejulsed him. The action of the gunboats also contributed very much to that re ult. The attack at that point was not renewed. Nighthaving come on, the firing osased on both a'des. In the meantime, the remainder of Gan. Nel-on's division crossed, and Gen. Crittendon's arrived from Savannah ty steamers. After examining the ground as well as possible, at night, in front of the line on which General Grant's troops had formed, and as far to the right as Gen. Sherman's divisions to form in front of that line, and wove forward as soon as it was light in the morning. During the night and early the following morning, Captain Bartlett's Ohio battery, Captains Mendenhall's and Terrell's regular batteries, arrived. General McCock, by a forced march, arrived at Savannah during the night of the 6 h, and reached the field of battle early on the morning of the 7th. I knew that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other divisions could not arrive in time for the action that the other division of the services of the different corps. The Military Board of Kentucky, who, under authority of the loyal legislature of that State, practically took all military power out of the hands of Gov. Mageffin last summer and saved Kentucky to the Union, have sent a deputation to Washington to ask for moderate and conservative action on the part of Congress. They say the emancipation act of this district, coupled with the general emancipation and confiscation bills still pending, are creating widespread uncersions and disaffection in Kentucky, and weakening the hands of the Union men there.

New York, May 13.

The advance of the iron clad gunbeat Galena up the James river created the utmost consternation in Petersburg. The fact that she had silenced the rebel batteries at Dog's Point, and was approaching Petersburg, caused a complete panic there. The Petersburg Express of the 9th says: there is a rumor that the Yankees were landing forces yesterday at Burwell's Bay or Smithfield, and their intention will be doubtless to march across the country, a distance of some eighteen or twenty miles, and take possession of Suffolk. This rumor licks confirmation.

The Lynchburg Virginian, May 8th, says: Jackson was still at Staunton at last accounts. A report was brought here by an officer of the I would recommend to your notice the efficars of my staff, who did their duty well on the field. They are: Captain J Miles Hendrick, A. A. G.; Assistant Quartermaster Irwin, Regular Army Medical Inspector; Captain Chandler, A. G. M; Lieutenant Peck, 6't Ohio, A. C. S.; Lieutenants W. P. Anderson, 6'th Ohio, R. Southgate, 6'th Ohio, Aides de Camp; A. Preston Graves, Eq. Volunteer Aide-de-Camp; Lieutenant Horton, 24th Ohio Volunteers, Ordanace Officer. The energy of Lieutenant Horton in bringing up ammunition was conspicuous.

The Atlanta Confederacy of the 4th says: Indications point strongly to a battle coming off at orinth at an early day, which for magnitude of the forces engaged will eclipse any that ever transpirel in America. Our judgment is that the Yankees have nearly 150,000 men. Beauregard is well night flanked on all sides. He has an immense army, but not so large as that of the enemy. It were idle to conceal the fact; we have some fears for the result. There is such a thing as being utterly overwhelmed with numbers against which we can provide no remedy. New York, May 13.

It is now estimated that the number of buildings destroyed by the great fire will reach 800. The amount of insurance was correctly stated. Losses will be distributed among the insurance companies, and it is believed most of them will pay. The Common Council has appropriated $5.000 for the destinate.

The most destructive fire which ever visited Long Island has been raging for the last four days, destroying a large amoust of property. The fire broke out near Stony Brook, on Filday last, and was caused by the burning off of a lot on the farm of Joel J. Smith. It has swept over on the farm of Joel J Smith. It has swept over an area of at least 60,000 square acres, principally in the town of Brocknam. It started near the villages of Stony Brook, Port Jefferson, Mount Sinai, and Miller's place on the north, New Village, Seldon, Middle Island, and Manorville in the middle, and Parchague, Belfast, and Onoque on the south. It passed some little distance from the villages in the north, while in the centre it came so near as to endanger dwellings and human live on the south side. They suffered
